

Sirs:

I am deeply troubled by reports that Sinclair Broadcasting will force its TV stations to air what sounds like political propaganda against one presidential candidate with no allowance made for a truly similar response by the attacked party shortly before the election. To pretend that this broadcast is "news" is an insult to the intelligence of the public. I believe this underlines serious questions about ownership of companies that gain use of the public airways and misuse this power for partisan use. If the FCC has any meaningful authority to guard against misuse of the airways, I hope you will take appropriate action to attempt to enforce a fairness doctrine that will better support the informed citizenry so vital to a strong democracy.

Thank you for your attention to this concern and for any actions you take to enforce fairness.
